FELLOWSHIP PLEDGE

RECOGNIZING that the American College of Surgeons seeks to develop, exemplify and enforce the highest traditions of our calling, I hereby pledge myself, as a condition of Fellowship in the College, to live in strict accordance with all its principles, declarations and regulations. In particular I pledge myself to pursue the practice of surgery with thorough self-restraint and to place the welfare of my patients above all else; to advance constantly in knowledge by the study of surgical literature, the instruction of eminent teachers, interchange of opinion among associates, and attendance on the important societies and clinics; to regard scrupulously the interests of my professional brothers and seek their counsel when in doubt of my own judgment; to render willing help to my colleagues and to give freely my services to the needy. Moreover, I pledge myself, so far as I am able, to avoid the sins of selfishness; to shun unwarranted publicity, dishonest money-seeking and commercialism as disgraceful to our profession; to refuse utterly all secret money trades with consultants and practitioners; to teach the patient his financial duty to the physician and to urge the practitioner to obtain his reward from the patient openly; to make my fees commensurate with the service rendered and with the patient's rights; and to avoid discrediting my associates by taking unwarranted compensation. Finally, I pledge myself to co-operate in advancing and extending, by every lawful means within my power, the influence of the American College of Surgeons.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

CLOSELY related to the advance made by the medical profession during the last decade is a movement initiated by the surgeons of this continent which finds its expression in the American College of Surgeons. The College is a society or a college in the original sense. Its purposes are to serve as an international force to keep before the profession and the general public of this continent a true conception of medicine as a social service; to advance especially the art and technique of surgery; and to advance the ideals in the practice of surgery, spiritual as well as intellectual. The College aims to include within its Fellowship those surgeons who are competent in the art and technique of surgery, and who have in them a fine sensitiveness of their debt to public service.

The College developed directly out of a consciousness within the Clinical Congress of Surgeons, first, that such an organization would serve to inspire genuine advance, not only on the human or moral side of the practice of surgery, but also on the side of the art and technique; and, second, that it would serve as a safeguard to the public in the matter of honest and competent practice of surgery. In the minds of these men the motive was to foster high professional ideals in medicine and to instruct the public as to what these ideals meant. This motive in November, 1912, found constructive expression. The Congress, at that time, appointed a committee of twelve to consider the advisability of organizing the College and it further empowered this committee to proceed with the organization if, after a thorough survey, such a step were deemed wise.

Without delay the committee of twelve went about its task. It sought the advice and guidance of the surgeons of this continent who stood out pre-eminently as leaders in each of the divisions of surgery. It sought especially the counsel of the professors of surgery among the stronger medical schools. In March, 1913, so abundantly was the committee assured of the approval and support of these men that it issued a call for a meeting of the organization so be held in Washington on May 5, 1913. About five hundred surgeons were invited to this meeting.

At the meeting in Washington almost five hundred surgeons were present. The College was legally organized. By-laws, rules, and regulations were adopted after due consideration, and the Board of Governors, the Board of Regents, and the officers of the College were elected. Details of these matters are published in the Year Book and in other bulletins of the College. But the significance of the Washington meeting lies in the sincerity with which those surgeons present pledged their active support. The College became to them a "vision" for the advancement of surgery without precedent in history.

The note of sincerity struck at the Washington meeting has in the three and one-half years now elapsed not only spread far among the profession and the general public, but it has also increased in intensity. Progress of this sort is possible only because the impetus of the College springs from within its own membership. Necessarily that impetus implies reform. But there is a vast difference between reform preached at men and reform innate in the hearts of men which finds expression at their own initiative. Whatever impetus the College possesses, it originates among the surgeons themselves. It is not an "uplift" movement. But, rather, out of the widely divergent views on many subjects among the Fellows, the aims of the College rise as those time-tried aspirations which are inherently the basis of all that is valuable in the vocation of surgery. The purposes of the College are concerned directly with matters of character and of training, with the betterment of hospitals and of the teaching facilities of medical schools, with laws which relate to medical practice and privilege, and with an unselfish protection of the public from incompetent service; in a word, they embody those ideals which have stood the test of centuries. Upon these the Fellows are united. These are the ideals which each Fellow, single-handed, has endeavored to foster, and the expression of them to-day through the College comes as a sort of mass-consciousness of the whole body of Fellows. The fact is that the Fellows have grasped in an instant the meaning of the College by a process of fusion, and they have gladly made sacrifices for its success.

THE ENDOWMENT FUND

A genuine test of the loyalty of the Fellows of the College to their program was made during the years 1914-15. Funds were needed for the very existence of the College. To meet this need an Endowment Fund amounting to $526,000 was by December, 1915, subscribed. A brief review of the financial side of the College is here given.

In order to provide means for the organization of the College an initial Fellowship fee of fifty dollars from each Fellow was voted at the first meeting of the College. This sum was payable, twenty-five dollars on admission, and five dollars annually thereafter for five years. Realizing that the income to be derived in this way was but temporary, and desiring to place the College on a safe, independent, and financially adequate basis, the Fellows in June, 1914, voted to raise an Endowment for the College of one million dollars. This plan provided that the Endowment should be invested in perpetuity, the income only to be used for the budget of the College. It provided, further, that each Fellow be asked for a subscription of five hundred dollars. It was understood that all subscriptions should be contingent on the raising of five hundred thousand dollars by December 1, 1914, the first payment on the subscription to be made January 1, 1915.

Subscriptions to the amount of $113,000 were pledged at the first meeting, and it was the intention to push the plan among those Fellows who were absent from that meeting after the summer vacations. But because of the European war, the Regents decided to ask those who had made subscriptions to give their consent to extend the time for obtaining the subscription one year. This extension was, with few exceptions, agreed to.

As already stated, the first half million dollars in due time were more than subscribed. Those who subscribed five hundred dollars to this fund are life members of the College and are not subject to the payment of any further dues whatsoever. But, in the meantime, the work of the College called for expenditures beyond the income provided by the interest of the Endowment Fund, and the Fellows of the College, in annual meeting held in Philadelphia on October 27, 1916, voted that those who had not subscribed five hundred dollars to the Endowment should be assessed by annual dues of twenty-five dollars each. The resolution provides, however, that the total payments assessed against any Fellow shall not exceed five hundred dollars. Further, dues are not asked of those who have retired from the active practice of surgery, or who have reached the age of sixty-five, or who, in the judgment of the Regents, would find payment of such dues a hardship.

At any time a Fellow of the College may become a life member by subscribing five hundred dollars to the permanent Endowment Fund of the College. Subscription cards used for this purpose are of the form given below,—

In case of death all unpaid balances are canceled.

The Regents propose to bring the Endowment Fund up to one million dollars as rapidly as may be. To this end they earnestly request Fellows of the College who have not already done so, and who can do so without hardship to themselves, to subscribe to the fund rather than to pay annual dues. From time to time unexpended balances in the treasury of the College will be transferred by the Regents to this fund. Subscription cards may be had on application from the General Secretary of the College.

INVESTIGATION OF HOSPITAL CONDITIONS

The admission of Fellows to the College made necessary at once that the Regents adopt a genuine standard of surgical training. From this fact it followed that the Regents must necessarily acquire accurate data with regard to the training of surgeons, not only in the medical schools, but also in the hospitals. It is probably a fair statement to say that eighty per cent of what the surgeon actually uses in practice he acquires during his internship and surgical assistantship in a hospital. The conditions under which this training is offered are, therefore, conditions with which the College must be well versed; and to know what these conditions are means that the College must undertake a thorough investigation of all phases of hospital work. The Director of the College recently, in making a report to the Fellows, said in this connection,—

“The particular training ground for the surgeon is the hospital. Forced upon us, then, is the obligation to know what this training ground is, and what kind of a standard we should hold up to ourselves as the proper training of a surgeon in a hospital. Further, the problem of the training of a surgeon in a hospital cannot be isolated as a separate factor of the hospital’s program. We cannot say that here the training of the surgeon begins and that there it ends, for the training of the physician is also largely the training of the surgeon. The problem involves us in the whole question as to what is the proper care of sick people.

“There are specific divisions, however, in every hospital which we may investigate, and, having accurate data, we may point the way of progress. For example, what is the condition of the case-histories of a given hospital? Are they complete? Are findings of surgical operations recorded immediately after the operations? Are the records accessible for study and future guidance? Are end-results followed up with conscientious common sense? Are summaries of these results made public as evidence of the competence of the physicians and surgeons practicing in the hospital?

“We may ask, further, what the conditions are of the hospital laboratory. Important elements in the training of the surgeon are that he know how to use the laboratory, and that he form a habit of using it. What are the laboratory facilities which a hospital of a given number of beds may reasonably be expected to provide? Are the laboratory findings made a part of the case-histories? Does the pathologist report his exact findings as a part of the case-histories? Do the superintendent and the trustees who are responsible for the government and the administration of the hospital take pains to assure themselves that the work of the laboratory is competent and that reports of findings are fearlessly set down?

"This last question leads us to the whole problem of hospital administration. We cannot avoid it. What is the relation of the Board of Trustees to the medical staff? Or to the hospital superintendent? In passing, let me say that it is the business of the superintendent to carry out the directions of the Board of Trustees. He should be told what kind of a staff is privileged to practice medicine and surgery in the hospital. He should see to it, then, that only men of the character indicated by the trustees are given this privilege.

"There is one superintendent in this country whose ability to meet this difficult problem is an inspiration. His hospital, as it happens, is one of 'open staff.' This superintendent has not raised any technical question as to the merit of an 'open' or a 'closed' staff. To him competence and honesty are fundamental. He has made it his direct business to know what goes on in the operating room, and to know what happens in the particular case before the operation occurs. If a surgeon operates in that hospital without evidence of genuine ability, the superintendent, after the operation is over, quietly puts his hand on the man's shoulder and says, 'We do not want you to come back again. Your work is not satisfactory. If you wish to make an issue of this matter, I will meet you. You are privileged to return, however, whenever you will show that you have acquired the training necessary to modern surgery.'

"The trustees support this man. What is the result? The hospital is still of the 'open staff' type, but in practice it is more 'closed' than most 'closed staff' types. Competent physicians and surgeons of the community are privileged to make use of the hospital; and at the same time the trustees of the hospital are able to guarantee to the community that the hospital stands for competent, honest service.

"Why shouldn't the trustees of all hospitals honestly be able to guarantee to their communities honest, competent service? Such a condition is one of the things which the American College of Surgeons seeks to bring about. It proposes to deal with these problems in no uncertain nor half-hearted fashion. The central part of its effort will be a series of pamphlets written so simply that the man who moves his lips when he reads can understand. These pamphlets will deal one after another with the things which make hospitals the right sort of institutions for the care of sick people. Sometimes it may be necessary to call meetings of the local commercial clubs, or of other bodies of laymen, in order to waken up the community as to the actual conditions in their hospitals. If this course is necessary, it will be followed. The day has gone by when any sort of indifferent or incompetent practice can be shielded in a hospital. The day has gone by when hospital trustees may rest in an irresponsible attitude toward the trust imposed in them.

"Again, what is the relation of the hospital to the county or local medical society? Are the facilities of the hospital freely at the service of the society? Is the spirit which dominates the work of the hospital an inspiration? Is it progressive and unselfish? These are merely some of the questions which the College of Surgeons proposes to answer in the fashion already indicated. It is probable that we shall begin with a study of the training of the internes. This problem is most closely related to our needs in the administration of the College. Further, if we go right to the bottom of the problem we shall find that it is really a question of what is the proper care of the patient. A full outline of this problem has already been sent to you."

FURTHER ADVANCE OF SURGERY

The investigation of hospitals offers one of the chief avenues of contact between the College on the one hand and the medical profession and the general public on the other. Through these studies, further, the College seeks to inspire real headway toward better surgery. But the Regents are not content to rest their efforts in this single field. The following paragraphs from the report of the General Secretary to the Fellows, October 27, 1916, are self-explanatory in this matter,—

"At all times in the administration of their trust the Regents have these questions to answer: (1) What is a genuine standard of good surgery? (2) How may we recognize those who practice good surgery and invite them to ally themselves with the College? (3) By what processes shall we make headway toward better standards of surgery?

"It is easy for an exclusive society of eighty or one hundred surgical specialists to define a standard of excellence and arbitrarily to select eighty or one hundred men on the continent who will qualify for membership. Such societies are usually social as well as scientific; and they are of vast benefit to the progress of medicine, for they aid in distributing new and higher ideals of attainment. Their object is to advance some particular specialty of surgery to its highest excellence. There are already in existence one or two such societies for each branch of surgery that is recognized by the American College of Surgeons.

"The American College of Surgeons, in contrast to these societies, is a democratic and inclusive organization. It is not only interested in the advancement of some branch of surgery, but of every branch of surgery. Its special task is to insist that surgery wherever practiced on this continent shall be under the surveillance of an organization which is strong enough in its moral reputation, and strong enough in its influence upon society, to render impossible the practice of surgery on the part of men who are not educationally, scientifically, and morally equipped to do the work. Its task is to provide the public with honest, competent service. . . .

"The first step forward was, obviously, to determine upon a standard of moral and scientific excellence for admission to Fellowship. Years of experience are essential to anything like a final analysis in this matter. But we know that any right standard must command the respect of the profession at large and the confidence of laymen. Of necessity, we must look into the moral and intellectual soundness of each candidate. This means that we must estimate the value of the candidate's educational opportunities, as determined especially by the medical school from which he graduated. We must estimate the practical hospital training that he received, the assistantship which he served in the art and science of surgery, the value involved in the license which he has acquired to legalize his practice, and his actual performance as an independent practitioner of surgery. Of great importance also is a knowledge of the methods of the hospital and of laboratory environment wherein his work is done. . . .

"Conscientious work as an official or a committeeman of the College soon convinces one that there is no concerted action on the part of the medical societies, medical schools, hospitals, or legislatures in the direction of making safe and experienced surgeons out of medical graduates. Outside of three or four conspicuous exceptions, where a limited number of selected men are thoroughly drilled as surgeons, and where they are turned out as skilled diagnosticians, pathologists, and operators, there is no real training school for surgeons. These super-trained surgeons are so few in number that they cannot fill even the teaching positions in the large centers of population. Now let me ask: Is the standard of surgery of these few men too good for the public in smaller communities? Is the best surgery too good for the humblest patient anywhere in our country?

"With our great faculties of medicine, with our endowed laboratories, with our great private and public hospitals, with our foundations of medical research, is there not one force on this continent to say to these leading organizations: 'You must not sanction the general practice of surgery to those untrained in surgery'? Is there a force in better position for such leadership than the American College of Surgeons? Can any one doubt that the College, consisting of four thousand real surgeons of America, has any right to shirk such a responsibility? Can the College find the slightest reason to delegate this tremendous task to any other organization? If it is proper that some force should standardize surgery, then it is right that the College should set about the work, for the very preamble of the College insists that the standardization of surgery is our major business.

"Our responsibility in this direction is plain. We can meet the responsibility. To start with, practically all of the teachers of surgery on this continent are with us. Through clear aspirations, through genuine enthusiasm, and through untiring efforts, we have weathered all waves of criticism and perfected a powerful organization. Further, that organization is now endowed. An inspiring momentum is under way. While this initiative is with us, let us become the keepers of surgery on this continent in a fashion as yet only true in dreams.

"I am so thoroughly convinced that this tremendous undertaking should be assumed and directed by the American College of Surgeons that I am going to ask you to create some further machinery needed for the work. Every day that we neglect to provide means to prevent untrained men from operating (except in emergencies) we are a party in encouraging unnecessary and criminally unsafe surgery. . . ."

COMMITTEES ON STANDARDS

In order that the College might make definite beginning toward the fulfilment of the recommendations of the General Secretary, the following resolutions, which are self-explanatory, were unanimously approved by the Fellows,—

Be it Resolved, First, that the Fellows of the College respectfully authorize and instruct the Regents of the College to select in each state of the United States and in each province of Canada, subject to the approval of the Fellows of the respective states and provinces, a committeeman at large to serve for a period of three years. Second, that the committee thus created shall be known as the International Committee on Standards of the American College of Surgeons; that it shall meet at least once in each year to consider ways and means to create (a) supplementary and graduate training for surgeons; (b) legislative enactment and other means to prevent dishonest practices; and (c) enactment of laws that will protect the public against untrained surgeons.

Be it Resolved, First, that the Fellows of the College respectfully request the Regents to hold an election of the Fellows in each state of the United States and in each province of Canada for the purpose of selecting two committeemen for each one million population or fraction thereof within the respective states and provinces. Second, that the committees thus created be known as State or Provincial Committees on Standards of the American College of Surgeons. Third, that the committeeman of the International Committee on Standards shall serve as the Chairman of his respective State or Provincial Committee on Standards. Fourth, that the purposes of this committee are to create co-operation among medical societies, medical schools, hospitals, and in the general public toward an active program for the fulfilment of the recommendations of the International Committee on Standards.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION TO FELLOWSHIP

In Bulletin No. 1 the requirements for admission to Fellowship are published in full detail. Briefly stated, these requirements are as follows,—

1. The candidate shall be a graduate of medicine, licensed to practice medicine in his respective state or province, or accepted as a medical officer in the service of his respective country.

2. To be eligible for Fellowship without technical examination the candidate shall be a graduate of a medical school approved by the American College of Surgeons. If the candidate's school of graduation is not accredited by the American College of Surgeons, he may be required to pass a technical examination in one or all subjects of the medical curriculum.

3. The candidate shall give evidence that he has served at least one year as an interne in a creditable hospital and two years as a surgical assistant, or he shall give evidence of an apprenticeship of equivalent value. Five to eight years after graduation in medicine, devoted to special training and to practice, are normally the time-requirement for eligibility to Fellowship. Due importance is attached to laboratory and research work.

4. The moral and ethical fitness of the candidate shall be determined by the reports of surgeons whose names are submitted by the candidate himself, and by such other reports and data as the Credentials Committee and the administration of the College may obtain.

5. The professional activity of the candidate shall be limited to the study, diagnosis, and operative work in general surgery or in special fields of surgery, such as eye, ear, nose and throat, genito-urinary, orthopedics, and gynecology and obstetrics, as follows: First, if the candidate resides in a city of less than fifty thousand inhabitants, at least fifty per cent of his professional activity shall be limited to the practice of general surgery, or to practice within the special fields of surgery as stated. Second, in cities of over fifty thousand inhabitants, at least eighty per cent of the professional activity of the candidate shall be limited to the practice of general surgery, or to practice within special fields of surgery. In other words, the College desires to admit to its Fellowship only those who are primarily specialists in surgery, and the minimum proportion of specialization which is acceptable may vary according to the size of the city in which the candidate resides.

6. The candidate shall make formal application for Fellowship. Blank forms for this purpose may be had, upon request, from the General Secretary of the College.

7. In making application for Fellowship the candidate shall sign a declaration which reads as follows,—

"I hereby promise upon my honor as a gentleman that I will not, so long as I am a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, practice division of fees in any form; neither by collecting fees for others referring patients to me; nor by permitting them to collect my fees for me; nor will I make joint fees with physicians or surgeons referring patients to me for operation or consultation; neither will I in any way, directly or indirectly, compensate any one referring patients to me; nor will I utilize any man as an assistant as a subterfuge for this purpose."

8. The Regents of the College reserve the right to alter, from time to time, regulations respecting the admission of Fellows to the College as they may think proper.

9. As evidence of his qualifications in the art and technique of surgery, the candidate is requested to submit the histories or records of fifty consecutive major operations performed by himself after the date of application for Fellowship.

The College has prepared a series of history-forms which indicate, in a general manner, first, the data desired in so far as they are applicable to each case, and, second, the form within reasonable limits in which these data should be submitted. These forms are given in Bulletin No. 1. The College does not supply them for actual record-keeping. They are there given in the hope that they will serve as helpful suggestions for the better keeping of records, and that they will make more evident the nature of the records desired from candidates for Fellowship. Each surgeon should, for obvious reasons, possess various history-forms which are not only adequate but also adapted to his work. On such forms he should have accurately recorded the essential data in connection with each case, such as the family history of the patient; the operative record with the pre-operative diagnosis complete; post-operative history and end-results; significant details of all analyses made in connection with the original diagnosis or with later complications; and details of the physical examination. These are, in general, the data requested in each of the fifty major operations.

The principles of record-keeping are the same for all work in surgery. The variations in the forms, as they may be adapted to the specialties of surgery, are variations chiefly of detail.

The original hospital records, it is assumed, may, upon request, be reviewed for verification with the records submitted. The name of the patient, however, need not be given in any record. The hospital number of each case should be given.

10. In addition to the complete histories of fifty consecutive major operations, as stated in the preceding paragraphs, the candidate is asked to submit in brief abstract a report of at least fifty other major operations in which he has acted as an assistant, or which he has performed himself.

11. Surgeons widely recognized by the profession as leaders of progress and exponents of finished technique, by a unanimous vote of the Board of Regents, may be admitted to Fellowship on recommendation of the Committee on Examination.

CONVOCATIONS

The first Convocation was held in Chicago on November 13, 1913. The Fellowship address was delivered by Sir Rickman J. Godlee, Bart., President of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. Fellowships were conferred upon 1059 candidates and Honorary Fellowships upon the following: Sir Rickman J. Godlee, Bart., of London, England, W. W. Keen of Philadelphia, William S. Halsted of Baltimore, J. Collins Warren of Boston, and Robert F. Weir of New York.

At this time Sir Rickman presented to the College greetings from the Royal College of Surgeons of England, as follows,—

“We, the Council of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, have heard with much interest of the approaching inauguration of the American College of Surgeons. We hereby convey to it our hearty good wishes, and express the hope that it may have a successful career and fill a position beneficial alike to the Profession and to the Community.

“We cannot forget the important advances in the Science and Art of Surgery achieved by many distinguished Surgeons in the Continent of America during the past, and are proud to have enrolled upon our list of Honorary Fellows the names of some of the most active workers in these fields at the present day.

“In accepting the invitation for our President to take a part in the opening Ceremony, we desire to show how we appreciate the intention of the American College to strengthen the bonds that already unite the Medical Profession amongst English-speaking peoples. It is a sentiment which always meets with a cordial response in this country, and it is one which this College will endeavour to support by all the means in its power.

"In witness whereof we have caused the Common Seal of the College to be hereunto affixed this 9th day of October, 1913.

President RICKMAN J. GODLEE

Vice-Presidents { G. H. MAKINS
FREDERIC EVE."

Finley of The University of the State of New York. Honorary Fellowship was conferred upon Ernest Sidney Lewis of New Orleans.

ACADEMIC ROBE

After due consideration the Board of Regents adopted a distinct Fellowship gown which, in their judgment, will add dignity, uniformity, and distinction to the Convocations of the College. The gown adopted consists of a body of navy blue mohair. A scarlet velvet facing five inches wide extends around the neck and down each side of the front. The cap is of the same blue material with a scarlet tassel.

THE BY-LAWS

I. NAME. The name of the corporation shall be the American College of Surgeons.

II. OBJECT. The object of the College shall be to elevate the standard of surgery, to establish a standard of competency and of character for practitioners of surgery, to provide a method of granting Fellowships in the organization, and to educate the public and the profession to understand that the practice of surgery calls for special training and that the surgeon elected to Fellowship in this College has had such training and is properly qualified to practice surgery.

III. THE COLLEGE. 1. The College shall consist of all members of the corporation. Such members are to be designated as Fellows. The College shall vest the general management of the corporation in a Board of Governors. The Board of Governors shall, in turn, vest the details of the management in a board of trustees to be known as the Board of Regents.

2. The College shall hold an annual meeting on the day and at the place selected for the annual meeting of the Board of Governors.

IV. BOARD OF GOVERNORS. 1. The original Board of Governors shall consist of the surgeons invited by the Organization Committee to serve as Founders of the College, who have qualified as Fellows. The members of this first Board of Governors shall also be known as the Founders of the American College of Surgeons.

2. The original Board of Governors shall be divided by lot into three classes to serve one, two, and three years, respectively. At the annual meeting in 1914, and at the annual meeting in each year thereafter, the Fellows of the College shall elect (in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents) fifty surgeons from among the Fellows of the College to membership on the Board of Governors, each to serve for a term of three years; thirty of these members are to be elected from a list of nominations, consisting of three members each nominated by the following sixteen surgical associations and societies of North America, including one each from the United States Army and from the United States Navy,—

1. American Surgical Association.
2. Surgical Section of the American Medical Association.
3. Section on Obstetrics, Gynecology and Abdominal Surgery of the American Medical Association.
4. General Surgical Division of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America.
5. Division of Surgical Specialties of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America.
6. American Gynecological Society.

14. American Ophthalmological Society.
15. American Otological Society.
16. American Institute of Homeopathy.

Twenty members shall be elected at large to represent surgeons of North America not affiliated with the above societies or associations. In case of failure of any of the above named organizations to make its quota of nominations, or in case of duplication of nominees, the Board of Regents shall nominate members from among the Fellows at large for the vacancies so caused in the list of nominees. The Board of Regents shall in the same manner fill all vacancies in the current membership of the Board of Governors due to death, resignation, or other causes.

3. The Board of Governors shall at its first meeting elect from among its own membership fifteen who shall be members of the Board of Regents; this group shall be divided into three classes of five members each, whose terms of office shall expire in one, two, and three years, respectively. As the term of service in each class expires, their successors shall be elected, each for a term of three years, by the Board of Governors in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents. Not more than four of each class shall be selected from one country. In event of death or resignation of any member of the Board of Regents, his successor shall be elected at the next regular or special meeting of the Board of Governors, but the Board of Regents may appoint a member of the Board of Governors to serve as Regent until this election takes place.

4. The Board of Governors shall meet in executive session annually for the transaction of business, which business shall include the election of members of the Board of Regents and other routine business which may be brought before it by the corporation or the Board of Regents. Such meetings shall be called by the General Secretary at the direction of the Board of Regents. Special meetings of the Board of Governors may be called by the General Secretary at any other time at the request of the Board of Regents. Members of the Board of Governors shall be expected to attend other formal meetings and Convocations called by the Board of Regents for the purpose of conferring Fellowships and the transaction of other business.

5. Fifty members of the Board of Governors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

V. OFFICERS. The officers of the College shall be a President of the College, a First Vice-President, a Second Vice-President, a Director, a General Secretary, and a Treasurer. These officers shall be appointed by the Regents. With the exception of the Director, each shall be appointed for a term of one year or until his successor is elected. The President of the College, the General Secretary, and the Treasurer shall be appointed from among the members of the Board of Regents.

(a) The President of the College shall preside at all regular and special meetings of the College and of the Board of Governors, and at all Convocations for the conferring of Fellowships.

(b) The First Vice-President shall preside at all meetings of the College in the absence of the President, and in the event of the death or resignation of the President, shall assume the duties of that officer.

(c) The Second Vice-President shall preside at all meetings of the College in the absence of the President and of the First Vice-President, and in the event of the death or resignation of these two officers, shall assume the duties of the President.

(d) The Director shall be the chief executive officer of the College. He shall be elected by the Board of Regents and hold office during the pleasure of the Board. Under control of the Board of Regents and of the Executive Committee, he shall have general charge of all matters of administration of the corporation. He shall prepare and submit to the Board of Regents and to the Executive Committee plans and suggestions for the work of the College. He shall have power to appoint and remove subordinate employes of the College. He shall submit to the Board of Regents, at least thirty days in advance of the annual meeting, a written report of the operations and of the business of the College for the preceding fiscal year, together with his recommendations for the work and for the appropriations of the succeeding fiscal year. He shall attend all meetings of the Executive Committee and of the Board of Regents.

He shall be the legal custodian of all property of the College whose custody is not otherwise provided for. He shall audit all expenditure and disbursement of funds of the College in accordance with the direction of the Board, or of the Executive Committee.

(e) The General Secretary shall keep all records of the corporation, of the Board of Governors, and of the Board of Regents. He shall mail to the proper addresses all notices of regular and of special meetings of the College, of the Board of Governors, and of the Board of Regents, and shall have a general supervision of the business affairs of the corporation under the direction of the Board of Regents.

(f) The Treasurer shall receive all funds of the College and disburse the same on checks, signed by him and countersigned by the Director or by the General Secretary. He shall make a report in writing to the Board of Regents at each meeting of that Board of the moneys received and expended, and shall furnish a detailed statement of the financial condition of the College at each annual meeting of the Board of Regents. The Treasurer shall furnish a bond to the Board of Regents for the faithful performance of his trust.

VI. BOARD OF REGENTS. 1. The Board of Regents shall consist of fifteen members elected from among the Fellows by the Board of Governors in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents.

2. The Officers of the Board of Regents shall be a Chairman and a Secretary.

(a) The Chairman of the Board of Regents shall be elected from among the members of the Board of Regents for a term of one year and shall preside at all meetings of the Board. In the event of his death or resignation, the office shall be filled by election at the next meeting of the Board.

(b) The General Secretary of the corporation shall be the Secretary of the Board of Regents.

3. The duties of the Board of Regents shall be those ordinarily performed by a governing board, namely: To transact all detail business devolving upon the Board of Governors in carrying out the object of the organization; to regulate and to conserve the property interests of the College; to adopt rules and regulations for the admission of Fellows; to fix initial fees and annual dues of Fellowship; to create, appoint, and direct all standing committees; to elect Fellows to the College; to call all meetings of the corporation not already provided for; to arrange Convocations or other meetings for the conferring of Fellowships; to transact all business not otherwise provided for that may pertain to the organization.

4. Eight members of the Board of Regents shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

5. Regular meetings of the Board of Regents shall occur once in twelve months at the call of the General Secretary. Special meetings may be convened at any time by the General Secretary, or on a request to him made in writing and signed by thirty members of the Board of Governors, or by eight members of the Board of Regents.

VII. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. 1. There shall be an Executive Committee, consisting, first, of the President of the College, of the General Secretary, and of the Treasurer; and, second, of five other Regents elected by the Board of Regents by ballot for a term of three years, who shall be eligible for reelection, provided, however, that, of the members of the Committee first elected by the Board of Regents after the adoption of these by-laws, two shall serve for one year, two for two years, and one for three years, and such members of the Committee shall determine their respective term by lot. Should the term of service, however, of any member of the Executive Committee terminate as a member of the Board of Regents, his term of service upon the Executive Committee also thereby terminates.

2. At least thirty days prior to the annual meeting of the Board of Regents, a Nominating Committee, consisting of the Chairman of the Board and of two Regents appointed by him, shall send notices by mail to all members of the Board of the vacancies in the Executive Committee to be filled at the ensuing annual meeting, and shall invite suggestions of names of Regents to be nominated as members of the Executive Committee. The nomination of this Committee shall be voted upon by the Board of Regents.

3. During the intervals between the meetings of the Board, the Executive Committee shall exercise all the powers of the Board of Regents in the management and direction of the business and the conduct of the affairs of the corporation, except that it shall not have power to elect Fellows, or to regulate initial fees or annual dues of Fellowship. It shall have supervision of the property of the corporation, and shall determine the investment of its funds.

(a) The Executive Committee shall direct the manner in which the books and accounts of the corporation shall be kept, and shall cause to be examined from time to time the accounts and vouchers of the Treasurer for moneys received and paid out by him. It shall keep a record of its proceedings and report the same to the Board of Regents at the next succeeding meeting for its approval.

(b) The Executive Committee may, in its discretion, appoint such sub-committees as it may deem necessary or desirable for the proper transaction of the business of the corporation.

(c) Whenever any vacancy shall occur in the Executive Committee, or in any office of the corporation, by death, resignation or otherwise, it shall be filled by appointment by the Executive Committee for the remainder of the current corporate year.

(d) The Executive Committee may adopt rules and regulations for the conduct of its meetings and the management of the affairs of the corporation, not inconsistent with the laws of the state of the incorporation of the College, and with the by-laws of the College.

(e) The Executive Committee may hold its meetings at such place or places as it may from time to time determine. A majority of the Executive Committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

VIII. FELLOWS. 1. The Fellows of the College shall be graduates in medicine who are licensed to practice medicine in their respective states and provinces, or medical officers of the federal services who have made an application for Fellowship (such application being endorsed by three Fellows of the College, one of whom shall be a member of the Board of Governors), who meet the qualification requirements that shall from time to time be established by the Board of Regents, and who shall be elected to Fellowship by the Board of Regents on recommendation of the Committee on Credentials, and who shall have signed the roll.

2. Each individual elected to Fellowship in the College shall be designated as a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and shall be authorized and encouraged to use the letters F. A. C. S. after his name on professional cards, in professional directories, and in articles published in surgical literature.

IX. PUBLICATIONS. The Board of Regents shall issue each year a directory containing the names and addresses of the Fellows of the American College of Surgeons arranged by states, provinces, and colonies.

X. Any Fellow of the College may be expelled for conduct which, in the opinion of the Board of Regents, is derogatory to the dignity of the College or inconsistent with its purposes. Such expulsion must be voted by a majority vote of the whole Board of Regents at any meeting, at which meeting the Fellow against whom charges are made shall be invited to be present, and may appear or may be represented, in a manner to be determined by the Board of Regents.

XI. These by-laws may be amended by a majority vote of those present at any regular or special meeting of the Board of Governors, or at a meeting called for the purpose on request made in writing by a hundred members of the Corporation, provided that such proposed amendments are included in the call of the meeting at which such action is contemplated.
